Senate OK's 465 Million Airport Bill

Some Republicans Protest It Would Pinch Ike's Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed a 465-million-dollar airport construction bill despite protests from some Republican that it would punch a hole in President Eisenhower's budget and invite a veto.

The President, who vetoed a similar bill last year after Congress adjourned, had recommended only 200 million dollars over the next four years for airport construction.

The measure passed Friday night by a 63-22 vote now goes to the House. No House hearings have been held on companion legislation.

The bill would extend the federal aid airport program for four years beyond June 30 and increase the annual federal allotments from 63 million dollars to 100 million.

In addition, it includes a special discretionary fund of 65 million dollars that Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), chief sponsor of the bill, said was designed to speed the modernization of big city airports to handle jet airplanes.

Under the program, the federal grants have to be matched dollar for dollar by the states.

All Republican efforts to cut the bill were defeated, but the Democrats made one concession in an effort to make the legislation more palatable to the administration.

The bill originally called for expenditures of 565 million dollars over five years. But Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) won unanimous agreement to lop off one year and 100 million.

It was the second Senate bill topping the President's budget recommendations. Only the night before the Senate passed a $2,675,000,000 omnibus housing bill exceeding Eisenhower's requests by more than a billion dollars.

On final passage, 51 Democrats and 12 Republicans voted for the airport bill. Five Democrats and 17 Republicans voted against passage. The 63-22 tally was more than the two-thirds majority necessary to override a veto.

Ike To Bare Aid Program For Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration plans to detail Monday what it wants in the way of a federal aid program for public school construction.

A somewhat similar program for college construction also may be announced.

There are indications the long-term proposals would cost about two billion dollars.

Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming will hold a news conference Monday morning on the proposed legislation.

Senate sources have said the administration will propose two separate programs under which federal funds would help meet debt service costs of long-range financing of new school and college construction. Both would be handled by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The college aid bill was described as being designed to provide about 400 million dollars worth of construction yearly—about equally divided between student housing and academic facilities.

The aid would be in the form of help in paying off bond and interest costs of financing new construction.

The proposed school construction program reportedly would provide assistance about equal to that previously recommended by the administration, but also in the form of help in paying bond and interest cost instead of through grants or bond purchases as earlier proposed.

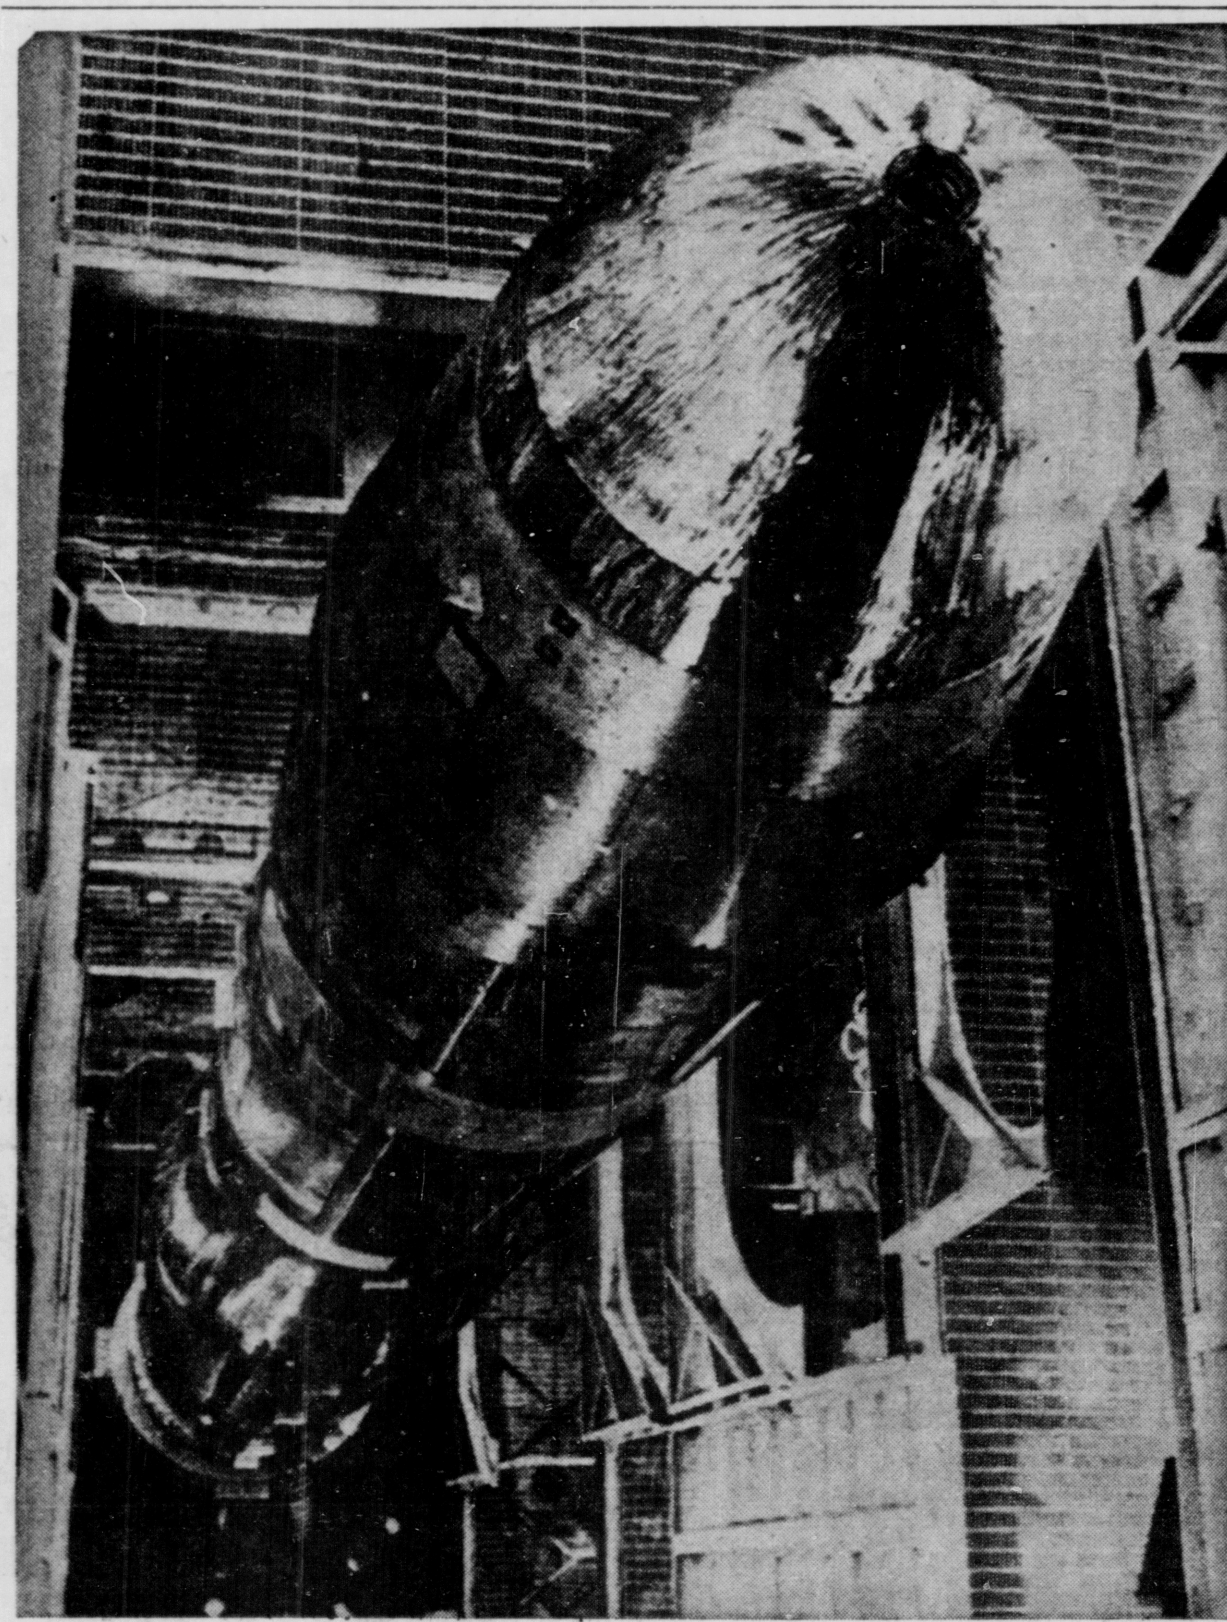

67 Water Delinquents Face Cutoff In Service

Sixty-seven city water department customers who ignored warnings sent a week ago to settle delinquent bills will face interruption of their service early next week to enforce payment.

The water department sent the notices a week ago to 129 customers owing a total of $2,129. Forty have paid $687, leaving $1,442 still outstanding from 89. But of the 89, some 22 have promised to settle the bills in the next 2 or 3 weeks, leaving 67 "holdouts," the water department said.

The department said the turnoffs will begin Monday or Tuesday—as soon as a crew of linemen is available.

'Common Action -- If Needed' Dulles Urges Allies Meet Red Threat On West Berlin Dispute

THE FIRST TITAN ICBM to be launched left its launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla., Friday and thundered majestically into the Florida sky. The 90-foot missile, a new U.S. war rocket, has a potential range of 8,000 miles. Two previous firing attempts failed, but Friday's was pronounced successful. The Titan is shown here in early development stage at Martin Co. Denver plant. (UPI Telephoto)

Force Hinted By U.S. Aide In Statement

Declares West Must Find Way To Meet Russian Challenge

BONN, Germany (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles called today for the Western Allies to face down the Soviet attempt to force the Allies out of West Berlin — "if need be by common action."

He said the Allies must find a way to meet "the Soviet challenge to our rights in Berlin."

While he did not make clear what he meant by the word "action," it appeared he had force in mind.

As Dulles arrived in Bonn for talks with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, reliable diplomatic sources in Paris said the U. S. secretary and the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany will meet in the French capital March 15. Their main purpose will be to hear a report from British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on his trip to Moscow.

These sources said an invitation to the Soviet Union to attend an East-West foreign ministers' meeting could come out of the Paris meeting of the Western officials.

Dulles talked over the March 15 meeting Friday when he met with French President Charles de Gaulle.

The March meeting in Paris indicates the Western powers will try for a meeting with the Soviets some time in April. This would closely follow the 10th anniversary meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Washington April 2.

The NATO members will get a fill-in on the proposed meetings next Wednesday when their council meets. NATO Secretary General Paul Henri Spaak met with Dulles during his stay in Paris.

The NATO council will also be called upon to approve the Western replies to the Soviet note of Jan. 10 calling for a 28-nation conference to work out a German peace treaty.

The Western notes will reject the Soviet bid, diplomats said, but will officially spell out the West's willingness to hold a foreign ministers' meeting with the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and France participating.

Diplomatic sources say that the West is agreed on the broad lines of an approach to the Soviet Union but vital details remain to be ironed out.

Dulles looked hard and hearty as he arrived in Bonn for the last of his three consultations on his trip through Europe.

Adenauer, at the airport to meet him, said the Allies "stand fast on principles" but are ready to talk about methods of dealing with the Soviet threat to Berlin.

Dulles referred to his previous calls on British and French leaders and said that the methods of dealing with the Berlin situation are "still in the formative stage."

Police Car Deadlined After Wheel Collapses

A 1958 police cruiser was deadlined today when a front wheel collapsed while an officer was en route down Avondale St. early this morning, Police Chief Americo Radeschi said.

Patrolman Jerry Adkins was driving the cruiser down the steep grade a few minutes after midnight when the wheel collapsed and the officer had to use the emergency brake to bring the car to a halt against the curb, the chief said.

He said investigation showed the lower ball joint broke in the left front wheel. A wrecker was called to tow the cruiser to the station.

New Political Crisis Faced By Iraqi Head

Six Of Premier's Cabinet Ministers Reported Resigned

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem, wooed by both Communists and Arab nationalists, apparently is facing a new political crisis with the reported resignation of six Cabinet ministers.

Informants arriving from Baghdad said one of the six who quit was Foreign Minister Abdul Jabbar Jomard. The others were Fuad Rikabi, minister of state; Baba Ali, communications; Col. Nagy Taleb, social affairs; Saleh Mahmud, health and Seddik Senesh, national guidance.

The significance of the resignations was not immediately clear. Kassem has been under pressure from supporters of the United Arab Republic's President Nasser to strengthen ties with the U.A.R. and from Communists to lean toward Moscow.

The Communists are the largest and best organized political group in Iraq, and have gained considerable strength since Kassem took over in the revolution last July which overthrew the pro-Western monarchy.

Kassem has declared that he wants to follow an independent nationalistic foreign policy without alliance with East or West.

If the resignations stick, Kassem will have to depend on leftists to help him run the government or abolish the civilian forms of government, and proclaim a military dictatorship. So far he has shied away from assuming dictatorial powers.

There have been reports recently that Kassem is beginning to move against the Reds.

New U.S. War Rocket Called 'Successful'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States has launched its second generation missile program with the debut of the powerful Titan.

The new war rocket, shaped like a huge bullet, performed smoothly on a 220-mile limited range flight Friday after failing to fly on two previous attempts. The Air Force said the launching was highly successful.

After its brief flight, the Titan fell into the Atlantic.

The blastoff of the intercontinental range ballistic missile signaled the start of an accelerated drive to produce advanced missiles superior to the present weapons in the U.S. arsenal.

Titan was developed as a follow-on series to the present Atlas which already has logged a 4 ton orbiting satellite and one triumph over intercontinental range.

Some estimates place the Titan range capability at 9,000 miles. In comparison, the Atlas has a range of 6,300 miles.

Still to come is the solid fuel Minuteman ICBM and various other so-called sophisticated missiles which the experts say will help close the gap with the Soviets in the space race.

The Titan's backblast shattered several remote controlled tracking cameras near the launching pad. The gold-tinted rocket weighs 110-tons. The range was short and the mission basic on this first test flight. As soon as the missile left the launcher, 90 per cent of the test objectives were accomplished, it was learned.

Motorist Hurt As Auto Veers Off Highway

Salineville District Man Reported 'Fair' In Route 45 Mishap

A Salineville area man was hospitalized with injuries received in one of three accidents reported Friday by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol.

Frank Ketchum, 31, of Salineville R. D. 1 is in "fair" condition in City Hospital with multiple lacerations of the head and scalp and fractures of the left arm and shoulder suffered when he demolished his 1959 sedan on Route 45 a mile north of Wellsville last night at 8:45.

Ketchum was traveling at a high rate of speed when he lost control of the car on a curve, officers said. He shot off the left side of the road, knocked over a highway sign, struck two trees and stopped against a utility pole.

Heavy damage resulted to the front end of a 1956 sedan driven by Charles Cronin, 25, of 1001 Ambrose Ave., when he was hit by a rock slide about mid-way on the East Liverpool-Wellsville "super-road" last night at 7:45, officers said. Cronin was not hurt.

A car driven by Charles Chrisman Jr., 20, of R. D. 2 struck the side of a wrecker, driven by Claude Milner, 38, of Youngstown near the Silver Switch at Wellsville yesterday afternoon at 2:45.

Chrisman started passing the wrecker which was moving a car, officers said. As he moved along side, Chrisman noticed a car turning across the highway from the oncoming line and attempted to pull back into the right lane, striking the wrecker, officers said.

Chrisman was cited for reckless operation.

End Sections Due First

River-Lake Road Work Indicated Within 4 Years

Within four years, Highway Director Everett S. Preston says, some work will begin on the proposed $100 million Lake Erie - to Ohio River highway.

The 86-mile road would run from Ashtabula to East Liverpool. Preston met at Columbus Friday with seven representatives of the Lake Erie-to-Ohio River Highway Association. He told them the State Highway Department is without available funds to start as large a program of road - building as it would like.

But he said that sections on either end of the lake-to-river road would be part of an early program. Preston did not specifically mention including these sections in the highway program for the next two years, starting July 1.

But Guy E. Nepper, deputy director for planning and programming, said he believes the sections will probably be in that program.

The program is expected to be announced in a few days.

Atty. Francis H. Lang, of East Liverpool, president of the association, told Preston:

"We're hopeful you'll include as much as this (lake-to-river) project in your (next) program as possible."

Other members of the group said their primary concern is that the project does not get down to the bottom of the barrel in the department's decision of what roads to build first.

Preston assured them: "This will not be overlooked. This is a thing I had a hand in starting. (He was on the consulting committee for the lake-to-river freeway in 1956.) One day—we hope not too far distant—you'll have a lake-to-river highway."

Commenting on the session, Lang said it was a "very pleasant meeting."

"Preston assured our group there is no doubt of the need for the highway and that within the limits of the financing the state will do what can be done."

He said they were told the state is now making up the program of work for the biennium period beginning July 1 and "they will be pretty well along with this programming in five to six weeks."

Lang quoted Preston as asserting, "There is no doubt of the need and eventually it will be built!"

"He definitely indicated the highway department will give us all due consideration," Lang added.

"We all felt it was a worthwhile conference — we are a great deal more optimistic," he concluded.

When Preston became director last month he was critical of the project, commenting that the previous administration was attempting to dictate future work without considering the financing.

E. R. Chandler, director of the association and secretary - manager of the Chamber of Commerce, accompanied Atty. Lang.

Others from the state highway department at the session were Warren Cremin, head of design and location; James Welch, deputy director of administration, and two of the new deputy directors, James Hagan of the Division 11 office at New Philadelphia, and Paul Jospyschak of Division 4 at Warren.

Other association representatives at the meeting were vice president J. Paul Mossman of Youngstown, treasurer John E. Krizan of Niles, directors Harold J. Mills of Warren and A. C. Patterson of Ashtabula and member William Courtney Jr. of Youngstown.

Atty. Lang and Chandler flew back, arriving home about midnight.

Resistance To Integration Seen Easing

NEW YORK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Rogers expressed belief today that resistance to public school integration is beginning to soften and that "reason and wisdom are coming to the fore."

"There is a much wider acceptance of the realities — a growing recognition that intransigent resistance can lead but ultimately to the destruction of public schooling in the area concerned," Rogers said.

At the same time, however, Rogers served notice that the Justice Department won't tolerate defiance of federal court integration rulings.

In a talk prepared for a meeting of Fordham University law alumni, the attorney general said: "If a federal court enters a decree and there should thereafter be defiance of that decree or a substantial interference with its execution, it does, in our view, become the duty of the Department of Justice to act. In such circumstances we shall take all appropriate steps to vindicate the court's authority — for example, through the institution of contempt proceedings."

Rogers expressed hope, however, that state and local authorities will maintain order themselves without need of federal action.

At Least 6 U.S. Fliers Killed U.S. Waits Reds' Reaction To Recording About Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States awaited today Moscow reaction to a tape recording the State Department says is evidence that an unarmed American transport plane was shot down by Soviet pilots.

The State Department made public Thursday the transcript of what it called a recording of Soviet fighter pilots talking to each other by radio as they attacked the four-engine transport.

The plane went down last Sept. 2 after it had crossed the Soviet-Turkish frontier. At least six U.S. airmen died.

Some officials thought the Soviet response to the recording would be to denounce the document as a "forgery." Others said it was impossible to predict what line Moscow would take. But few, if any, thought the Soviets could ignore the document entirely.

The Soviet government, including Dep. Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan during his Washington visit last month, has taken the position that the plane crashed rather than being shot down.

Six bodies later were turned over to American authorities. Four were identified and returned to their families. The Soviets maintain they know nothing about the fate of the other 11 men aboard.

The two unidentified dead were buried Friday in adjoining graves in Arlington National Cemetery. Members of Congress and high military officials were among those attending.

Third Conference Set Over Laughlin Dispute

A third conference will be held Monday morning to iron out a grievance of gold stampers at the Homer Laughlin China Co., who threw a picket line around the plant Thursday morning, briefly idling 1,500 workers.

The conference will be between the labor committee of the U. S. Pottery Association and the Executive Board of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

A spokesman for Laughlin said today a meeting Friday afternoon "was very informal and didn't change a thing."

Management submitted a counter-proposal to the union at the brief meeting yesterday. The union previously had submitted a proposal to the firm.

The women workers, members of Local 124, withdrew their picket lines after the morning shift changes Thursday and production returned to normal yesterday.

1,000 Expected To Attend Conference

Ohio To Push Industrial Program

By DUANE E. CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS, Ohio — "It's like grandmother's bridge club. Everybody will be there because they're afraid not to be."

That is State Commerce Director John Bush's light-hearted explanation of why some 1,000 persons will attend the forthcoming conference here to discuss establishment of a state department of industrial and economic development.

But on the serious side, the handsome, personable Portsmouth native points out that when you want to gather together all the Ohioans who have been working on or concerned with the state's economic progress, it's an easy matter to wind up with an invitation list of such proportions.

Says Strides Made
"Many officials and private citizens have long been interested in keeping Ohio attractive to industry," he said. "Then there are public and private groups, such as the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, a local chambers, regional planning bodies and other agencies which have accomplished great strides in this field."

"The ideas, suggestions and experience of such efforts will be presented at the meeting along with the governor's thoughts on the proposed department and its functions."

Exact date for the one-day meeting has not been decided, but it is expected to be within the next two weeks. Although he named Bush as the "producer of the show," Gov. Michael V. DiSalle himself will be the star.

Pushed By DiSalle

The new department is one of the governor's pet projects and he personally will explain his position to the assembled guests. His office is directing the drafting of necessary legislation to be presented to the General Assembly. The measure is expected to be ready by the time the meeting is held.

Bush emphasized that the administration's aim in setting up the new department is not to block the work already done or under way by various localities and groups in the state.

"We want to coordinate those efforts in and through a single agency to the advantage of the state as a whole and all of its citizens," he said. "And by putting the department on cabinet level, we want to give industrial and economic development the status and financing it deserves but has not had in the past."

Sees Waste In Competition
As Gov. DeSalle declared in his State of the State message to the Legislature, some aspects of the competition for expansion are wasteful and damaging, Bush said. Some communities are pitted against each other to the detriment of all. Some communities or areas hopelessly compete against other states.

Unity of effort through the new department would halt that if it functions properly, the commerce director said.

Legislation to create the new cabinet agency probably will carry the emergency clause, Bush said, but in any case the department should be in operation before the end of this year if it wins approval.

Since it will absorb the functions of the present Division of Economic Development and Publicity in the Commerce Department, will Bush find his responsibilities diminished?

May Add Three
"Best way to answer that," he replied, "is to point out that along with this proposal to remove one of my department's divisions, there are proposals to add three new ones."

The first of these is another DiSalle idea. It was ranked by Bush as second in importance only to the creation of the industrial department.

It would bring together in one division, and thus under a single chief, all of the state boards, bureaus, commissions and agencies which at present have no "homes" in other departments or are responsible directly to the governor.

The plan carries the double aim of increasing administrative responsibility of all state offices but relieving the chief executive of excessive detailed supervision. Bush said it is similar to proposals made on the national level by the Hoover commission.

Would Censor Movies

The second new division proposed for the Commerce Department is one provided for in a bill introduced by Sen. Robert R. Shaw (R-Columbus) to reinstate movie censorship. The old Ohio censorship was ruled unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court in 1954.

The third proposed division for Bush's bailiwick is one for women.

Sought by the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, the agency would promote business opportunities for the staff population and offer an advisory and counseling service.

Typically witty comment on this proposal by the jovial Commerce Secretary:

"There are 9,000 women behind this. I pity the poor legislator who may be against it!"

As for other plans in his department, the cabinet member said he has two pet projects, one already accomplished and the other in the offing.

Toledo Man Appointed

He has appointed John Hull of Toledo as chief of the division of administration. Formerly the entire burden of running the department rested with the director and his secretary.

He hopes soon to house all the state's airplanes at the "beautiful hangar building" at Ohio State University's Don Scott Airport.

Bush, who himself holds a private pilot's license, said the building was erected to house the State Aviation Board offices and to provide shops and hangar facilities for state- and owned aircraft.

The board's offices are there, but only two planes use the shops and hangar. A total of eight planes owned by the State Highway Department, State Highway Patrol and Department of Natural Resources are kept at Port Columbus.

"If the heads of the four departments involved would get together and agree on the change," Bush said, "we could save the state $10,000 just like that."

How Does One Find Faith?

My column is almost always concerned with the importance of having faith and suggests ways of putting faith to work in overcoming the various obstacles and difficulties we face in our everyday lives. No doubt some of my readers have asked themselves, "But suppose I have no faith, how do I find it?"

This is an age-old question. The Gospel of St. Mark tells us of the father who brought his sick son to Jesus and asked for help. "If thou canst believe," Jesus told him, "all things are possible to him that believeth."

"Lord, I believe," the father answered. "Help thou mine unbelief." Meaning he wanted to believe but found it hard.

HOW TO overcome unbelief and how to find faith have been subjects of serious study by theologians for centuries. And now other scholars are addressing themselves to this problem with results that support earlier theological conclusions.

A friend of mine has been reading a book by two professors of sociology which is highly critical of much contemporary religious thinking and has passed on to me a paragraph from it which, despite the negative attitude of the sociologists and the somewhat wordy writing, offers an interesting suggestion for finding faith.

"The thesis is," they write, "that one may bring about commitments and involvements that will increase a faith originally feeble. The one who seeks to believe must involve himself in the habits and mechanical ways of belief, and this will help belief itself. One could even conceive a sequence in which a person emotionally desperate and without faith, seeing what he regards as enviable fruits of faith in others, would wish that faith for himself, would further act 'as if' he were already committed to faith, and would finally achieve it. It seems to us unnecessary to deny the possibility of such a sequence of events."

I AGREE with the two professors that this simple truth cannot be denied and I recommend the technique they describe to anyone who may be seeking a stronger faith.

For each of us can look around and see what these authors call "the fruits of faith in others" — that is, the result of belief in the lives of people who do believe and who live their belief. It is a good idea carefully to examine the way such people think and live. Then emulate them and their methods. The result will be that you may go far toward finding similar faith for yourself.

If those people whose practical results you would like to achieve are readers of the Bible, then, too, will profit by reading the Bible regularly, just as they do.

Do they follow a pattern of regular prayer? Then I suggest that you, too, learn their prayer pattern and imitate it.

Do they attend religious services regularly? Then you would do well to begin such regular attendance and make it a habit.

If they tithe, giving a fixed portion of their regular income to church or other religious institutions, and as a result attain new strength and joy, then you also should plan your own giving accordingly.

I have personally found this an effective technique. You might call it the plan of practicing faith in order to find faith. It really works. Give it a try and I'll guarantee that you will make real progress in finding the strong faith you seek.

House Appears Following Senate Lead On Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today appeared to be following the Senate's lead on a housing program — less money than Democratic sponsors propose, more money than President Eisenhower wants.

The House Banking Committee will consider a $2,100,000,000 bill approved by one of its subcommittees Friday. In two weeks, the committee may have the bill ready for action in the House.

Here is how the bill stacks up against other bills and proposals:

1. It is less than Rep. Albert Rains (D-Ala.) originally proposed. His bill listed loans and grants of about three billion dollars.
2. It is less than the bill passed by the Senate Thursday night, that bill authorized $2,675,000,000.
3. It is more than President Eisenhower has requested. He asked for a bill of about $1,600,000,000.

Actually the difference between the bills of the House subcommittee and the Senate may not be as great as it appears. The House previously approved a separate housing bill covering loans to veterans. The Senate includes that feature in its over-all housing bill.

Confessed Killer Captured After Escape From Jail

ALTUS, Okla. (AP)—Confessed killer Ray Allen Young was captured by Texas officers two hours after he broke out of jail here Friday night.

Young, 32, awaiting trial for the shooting of Oklahoma highway trooper John Barter Jan. 23, picked up his wife—at whom he had fired six shots before his first capture—at a cafe here. He drove a car he stole from Clayton Tinney.

Tinney stepped out of the car, occupied by his wife and their 2-year-old grandson, when Young threatened the boy with his knife. After getting his wife he headed into Texas and was captured 11 miles north of Vernon at an empty farm. He tried to run down his captors who riddled the car with gunfire. Young drove the car past the officers into a field and crashed into a garage. Neither he nor his wife resisted arrest.

Lausche, Young Differ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again Sens. Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young, Ohio Democrats, have voted on opposite sides of an issue. The Senate Friday night passed, 63-22, a bill providing for a 465-million-dollar, four-year program of federal aid for airports. Young voted for it, Lausche against it.

Dr. Malan, Author Of South African Racial Policy, Dies

CAPETOWN (AP)—Dr. Daniel F. Malan, author of much of South Africa's racial policy, died today after suffering a stroke.

The 84-year-old former editor and clergyman, who was the nation's prime minister from 1948 to 1954, defied worldwide condemnation to enforce a policy of apartheid that he insisted was the traditional policy of South Africa since the first Dutch settlers arrived in Capetown.

Dr. Malan, as the dominating voice for Afrikaner nationalism, was a controversial figure during his long political career. Critics accused him at times of attempting to become a dictator after he rose to power in 1948.

He opposed South Africa's entry into the second World War and in 1942 moved unsuccessfully in Parliament to withdraw the nation from the conflict.

In attempting to define apartheid, Malan said that white South Africans had maintained their racial identity among overwhelming majority of nonwhites for 200 years and were not prepared to surrender it.

He said the color consciousness of South Africa arose from the contrast between two irreconcilable ways of life—those of barbarism and the civilization of heathenism and Christianity.

"There is no parallel for the South African record of nonextremism, nonmiscegenation, and nonassimilation but of preaching practicing Christianity with the retention of racial identity and mutual respect," he said.

Malan died in the presence of his wife and members of his family. He retired as prime minister in 1954 after leading the National party to victory in 1948 and 1953. The party still controls the government.

Gas Fumes Situation Reduced By Flushing

ROCHESTER — Fire Chief Francis Hearing said the explosive condition caused by escaping gasoline in a main sewer serving a business area is being relieved by constant water flushing.

Gasoline was reported in the sewer Tuesday morning and the source of the leak has not been found. Tests on the amount of gasoline in the line were to be made today with representatives of the Ashland and Atlantic gasoline companies on hand.

Gasoline storage tanks and pumps in the area were emptied and filled with air to check for the leak.

12 Are Suspended

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Good-year Tire & Rubber Co. has suspended 12 employees as the result of a wildcat strike that has virtually halted production by 1,000 workers in the firm's passenger tire manufacturing division.

Twenty workers in the tire curing section left their jobs Thursday following the suspension of an employee who disputed the work rate. They ignored a plea by officials of the United Rubber Workers union to return to work. The company Friday suspended 12 of the 20 for a week without pay.

Youth Captured In Armed Holdup As His Girl Flees

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A 13-year-old Cleveland girl fled in a stolen car Friday night after her 15-year-old boy companion was captured during an attempted armed robbery.

The car, stolen at gun point in Cleveland, was later found abandoned.

John R. Taylor, Toledo druggist, told police the boy walked into his store Friday night, pulled a gun and demanded money from the cash register. Taylor said he knocked the gun from the youth's grasp and held him while a clerk called police.

The girl, sitting in a car outside, drove off when police arrived.

Carl Padvorac, 46, of Westlake, had reported to Cleveland police that the teen-agers used a pistol to force him out of his car.

Another Active Year Of Scouting

Boy Scout Week is being observed today through next Friday.

Like many other worthwhile organizations, the Scouts don't need a "week" to point out the value of their program and the good they do throughout the year. But Boy Scout Week is a time when an extra pat on the back is in order—to Scouts throughout the world and to those of our own Columbiana Council in particular.

There are some 2,500 boys in Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting and Exploring within the Area Council. And within five years their leaders hope to have a total of 4,500 enrolled. The Scouting program does not stand still.

Guiding the youngsters are some 680 men serving as unit leaders and in other capacities and more than 460 den mothers. They are responsible people giving willingly of their time to advance a deserving program.

Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, in his annual message as national Scout executive, pays special tribute to the above group. He says the greatest influence in Scouting's growth "has been the dedicated service of Laymen willing to invest their time, their energy and their money in the interest of training youth to do their duty to God and country and to preserve and strengthen our heritage and to develop a nation so that it may be spiritually, dynamically and mentally strong and morally straight."

While Scouting's ideals and objectives have remained constant since 1910, the program, organization methods and operating techniques have changed as the result of study and understanding of changing conditions.

Any ex-Boy Scout who has to tie a knot now and then, or has had to give emergency treatment to an accident victim, or barbecues a hamburger in his back yard knows what the practical side of Scouting has meant to him.

Any present Scout who is a part of the camping, handicrafts, recreation, hiking and many other activities of his troop knows how important these are to his life today and in the future.

Any Scout leader who is close to the youths and sees what the program is doing for the cultivation of character, ideals and useful occupation of time understands how well spent are the hours he serves as a leader in Scouting.

In fact, anyone familiar at all with the Boy Scouts might wonder just how America would stand today were it not for the founding of the youth organization 49 years ago.

Modified Mobilization Here To Stay

The one-sided House vote to extend the draft for another four years means that modified mobilization is here to stay.

Step by step, progress has been made since the end of World War II toward permanent military preparedness as a substitute for the prewar policy of mobilization for emergency only.

In the absence of sharply defined policy there has been, instead, a series of improvisations which in the aggregate have been a substitute for predetermined policy. The United States has been marking time, hoping for some change in the international tension that would permit it to revert to a peacetime policy.

But the fact is the peacetime policy that seems so desirable in contemplation now is no better defined than the modified mobilization that seems so undesirable. It is unthinkable that the United States would go back to mobilization for emergency only. It is not that kind of a world. It never was.

Modified mobilization is at least realistic. It is as realistic as the nationwide reorganization of reserve units now under way—a reorganization that aims to have reserve units instantly available for a military emergency that may never happen. But if it did happen, in an era of atomic warfare, there would be no time to put together the scattered pieces of a military organization.

The new reserve reorganization will keep them together on a standby basis, just as the regular military organization these days is striving for instant readiness.

The draft is the key to readiness. It is both a source of manpower in itself and an inducement to enlistment. Inequitable as it is and spotty in its demands, it has evolved gradually into about as good a system as could have been blueprinted in advance; it may even be better than a blueprinted system would have been, because it is more flexible.

To all intents and purposes, what once was considered temporary has become permanent. If the Senate concurs in the judgment of the House, which accepted without change the judgment of the President and the Pentagon, the draft will be continued until July 1, 1964.

Uncertainty has changed into certainty. The emergency has become normal. Mobilization on a modified scale is now permanent.

Diehards Avoid The Main Issue

The 14th Amendment to the Constitution contains four sections. The last two long since lost their meaning. They concerned technical problems growing out of the Civil War.

The second section describes apportionment of representatives in Congress; it could stand revision, but it is indispensable. The first section, which is the one concerned in the attempt to bring public practice into line with Constitutional principle, is under attack by Southern diehards who claim it was never properly adopted and was not intended to mean what it says.

This is what it says:
"All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

If there is disagreement with these provisions, those who disagree should be proposing either the outright repeal of the entire section or some change in text to bring the 14th Amendment into harmony with their thinking.

This has never been proposed, even by Southern diehards in the school desegregation and civil rights fight. They have talked about everything but the main issue. They even have talked about the clouded background of the amendment, with a view to throwing a shadow over its status. But they never have proposed that it be repealed or modified.

They would not willingly jeopardize their own citizenship by so doing, and that is the issue—whether they can jeopardize the citizenship of anyone else while the 14th Amendment remains in force.

Moderates in the South are willing to obey the 14th Amendment. Diehards are avoiding the main issue, which is whether the amendment either must be obeyed by them or destroyed. They do not want to obey it, but neither do they want to destroy it, lest in its absence they, themselves, might be destroyed.

Three-Ply Sock

The most significant domestic political fact for 1959 promises to be the three-ply sock—national, state and local—American taxpayers seem to be in for.

President Eisenhower's proposal to balance the budget at 77 billion dollars calls for a 50 per cent rise (3 to 4 1/2 cents) in the motor fuel tax, and higher postal rates headed by a 5-cent first class letter charge.

And the President faces the fight of his life against demands of the heavily Democratic Congress for higher expenditures, egged on by governors and mayors, hoping to shift the cost of such things as housing, airports and schools to the federal government.

Clearly, success of Eisenhower's effort to hold federal taxes down would be reflected in just that much higher taxes, levied by state and city governments. All three ways, probably, everybody's taxes will go up.

AMONG GOVERNORS, Nelson A. Rockefeller (R-NY) got the jump when within three weeks after he took office, he won from his Legislature a rise for 4 to 6 cents in the state gasoline tax, to take effect March 1. That stroke alone added 60 million dollars in annual state revenue.

Gov. Rockefeller, with a budget topping two billion dollars for the first time in the state's history, is asking 215 million more in tax increases. High among sources for the latter are withholding of income taxes from payrolls, lessening of exemptions to a uniform $600 for each parent or dependent, rise in the top bracket to 10 per cent on taxable income in excess of $15,000.

Other proposed levies are a 2-cent-per-pack rise in the cigarette tax and increased taxation of pari-mutuel betting.

Adding to woe for New York City residents is a request by Mayor Wagner for 145 million dollars in added municipal revenue, proposed to be attained by a rise from 3 to 4 cents in the city sales tax, a withholding tax on all commercial and industrial payrolls and a levy on off-track betting, presumably meaning book-maker operations.

The proposed boost in the city sales tax is being hotly contested because, says The New York Times, even the present 3 per cent levy is threatening to drive downtown stores out of business due to the transfer of shopping to suburban areas which have no sales tax.

THE NEW Democratic governor of California, Edmund G. Brown, has out-reached even Gov. Rockefeller with a budget of $2,188,000,000, highest ever for any state. Organized labor, which largely put Brown in office, has denounced as "shocking" his proposals of a 3-cent-a-pack tax on cigarettes, comparable levies on other tobacco products and a rise from 2 to 7 cents a gallon on beer.

Gov. Orville Freeman (D-Minn) in his inaugural address asked a third time for institution of income tax withholding from factory payrolls.

Minnesota legislatures both in 1955 and 1957 voted down that proposition, with the effect of leaving the state now with an $834-million-dollar deficit. In addition to withholding, Gov. Freeman is asking a 1 per cent increase in income tax rates, applicable across the board.

He is being hotly attacked by low level earners because the latter provision would hit them proportionately much harder than persons with higher incomes.

But Minnesota's existing maximum state income tax—10 per cent on income in excess of $20,000—is the highest in the nation. However, Gov. Rockefeller is asking that rate, applicable at the $16,000 level.

The history of state income taxes is that once begun they invariably trend upward.

The Power Of Faith

THE MOUNT OF TEMPTATION

Wednesday is the first day of Lent, the start of the 40-day penitential season that commemorates Christ's fast in the wilderness.

This drawing of Christ praying in a cave is based on a sketch I made on the Mountain of Temptation in the Holy Land, where according to sacred tradition Christ was tempted three times by Satan.

A narrow trail rimming the steep cliffs led up to the cave. There was an awesome view of the Jordan Valley from the mouth of the cave, which dropped away from a high, jagged precipice. In the shadows, a wasp's nest hung from the clammy damp wall. Tracks of man-eating jackals made a frightening pattern on the floor of the cave.

The whole setting, stark and forbidding, brought home the tremendous privations that Christ endured in the wilderness. And yet he found the strength to tell his tempter: "Get thee hence Satan."

Khrushchev Revises Karl Marx

By Victor Riesel

Award me a medal with clusters. I have just gone over every original word of Nikita Khrushchev's 7-hour speech to the Soviet Communist party's 21st congress.

I submit that this is action above and beyond the call of duty.

Fellow workers, now I even know what Khrushchev thinks of Comrade Zuckov, chairman of the Krasnoyarsk Integrated Expedition of the Council for the Study of the Productive Forces of the USSR Academy of Science. Nikita likes him. Zuckov agrees with the boss on Socialism.

And what do these documents show of Tovarish Khrushchev's pleasure with Socialism? The boss doesn't like it at all.

That is the big story of the 21st congress. It will seep out soon enough in other learned studies besides this report, Nikita Khrushchev has just revised Socialism. That is fact. He has moved it closer to capitalism.

Khrushchev has shifted the Soviet state to the right.

THIS IS EVIDENCE that the mighty Soviet state in a mighty sweat over cracks in its production lines and that Comrade Mikoyan came here for aid in patching up the system, which is doing mighty well among the stars but not so well on earth.

Here are the quotes, buried among hundreds of thousands of words, to prove this:
"In Socialist society distribution is realized basically according to the principle, 'From each according to his abilities, to each according to his work.'"

"This means that the predominant part of material and cultural wealth is distributed among the society's members in accordance with their labor contribution to communal production," Khrushchev said.

Earth tremors recorded at that moment will undoubtedly be traced to the swiftly revolving Karl Marx in his British grave. It has been Marxist philosophy for more than 100 years that Socialism means "from each according to his abilities, to each according to his needs."

WHAT KHRUSHCHEV, the revisionist, has done is to tell the thousands at the Soviet congress that he wants a full day's work for what passes for a full day's pay in Russia. He says in so many words that those who don't work won't eat, and those who work will eat more and be richer.

"The Socialist principle of distribution (of money, food, apartments, cars, etc.) according to work is based on the admission of the impossibility of an equalizing distribution in the period of Socialism," Khrushchev said in startling retreat from the former positions of Lenin, Marx and a fellow named Joe Stalin.

"This is the only sensible and just principle of distribution in the given conditions. One cannot fail to see that equalization would lead to unjust distribution."

Now hear this:
"Both the good and bad workers would receive the same. This is advantageous only for idlers. Thus the material incentive of people to work better, to increase labor productivity, to produce more, would be undermined."

"Equalization would mean not a transition to Communism but the discrediting of Communism."

KHRUSHCHEV reported that all this business about all men no longer being equal in shop and factory was approved last November by millions of Soviet citizens. Comrade K. said that more than 968,000 meetings were held "in enterprises and projects, at collective and state farms, in scientific and educational establishments, in army and navy detachments and at Soviet institutions."

Comrade Big then said that these meetings "were attended by more than 70 million people." Of these, more than 4,672,000 comrades "made remarks, amendments and suggestions."

In addition, said Khrushchev, "Central and local parties and Soviet bodies, editors of newspapers, periodicals, radio and TV received from working people over 650,000 letters and articles with suggestions and remarks about various sections of the theses on target figures. Of these, over 300,000 have been published."

Apparently Comrad K. and the other Russians have discovered the secret for successful Communism—capitalist production. Little wonder Mikoyan enjoyed Wall St. and the supermarkets.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: We have given our best thought, your ever-loving Aunt Effie and I, to the query you made, but we cannot make a pat reply.

There is no exact age at which a person should start to guard against talking like an old timer. When you were a kid of 12, you talked about remembering things that happened when you were a "child." That was a little young to be recalling your youth, we thought. But you are not too old to recall it now, provided you do not recall it too often and too sentimentally.

You never are too old to talk about it as long as you do not make a pest of yourself and reveal you are in your dotage. I quit trying to sound like Uncle Remus years ago, because I knew I was being a bore. Since then, I talk about my accumulated wisdom and collection of folk tales only under special circumstances. Some of these are:

1. If I am in the presence of an attractive young woman who will not know what a well rounded, knowledgeable old codger I am unless I tell her. This is supposed to compensate for the fact I am not an attractive young codger and comes under the heading of compensatory conversation.

2. If I am in the presence of impressionable (I hope) young men who will not know what a wealth of information I have cornered and catalogued during my journey through life unless I give them chapter and verse of all my memorable experiences, which I feel sure are of interest only to me. But what else would I talk about—cubist painting?

3. If I am in the presence of people my own age or thereabout who have no ready-made subject of conversation except what they have seen and done, with suitable embellishments to make their experiences more vivid in the endless retelling than they were when they happened.

That covers my conversational contacts. But to be serious about it, you should quit using your age as a conversational crowbar when you would be embarrassed to hear a recording of yourself. We laughed for years about one of your aunt's female relatives who made a trip to Paris when she was a young woman. She was still talking about it when she was an old woman; it was all she had to talk about.

Give our regards to the family, old timer, and remember the Maine!

Road To Ruin

Spending Policy Will Wreck Economy

An economic debacle is in the making. Can it be avoided? Both houses of Congress took a step on Wednesday that may hasten its coming.

The American people may learn sooner than anybody has believed possible that a blunder was made in the election last November by giving the Democrats party control of Congress.

For the threat now is that, if the budget is unbalanced, higher taxes for everybody will have to be enacted. And if the revenues to balance the higher spending begun by the Democrats are not to be collected by the government, then the American people are in for an era of inflation that could send the cost of living upward and eventually bring the dollar down to a 10-cent purchasing power.

This would mean international danger. For the weakness in the American dollar would have a far-reaching effect on the currencies of Western nations.

The vote in the House and Senate this week on the federal housing program is significant. It was a bold defiance of budget balancing and an invitation to higher and higher taxes.

President Eisenhower has said frankly that, if the budget is unbalanced, he will demand the passage of higher taxes.

THE DEMOCRATS lined up almost solidly for budget-busting and disregarded the inflationary dangers. Of the 282 Democrats in the House, 257 voted to authorize 300 million dollars to provide direct loans to veterans for housing whenever they cannot borrow from private institutions.

Only two Democrats voted with 121 Republicans against the measure. Just why any group of American citizens should be given such an advantage—especially in these days when there are outcries about "second-class citizenship" and discrimination—is not clear to anybody except the politicians.

They think the relatively small number of veterans in the country who can't borrow from private loan institutions is a big enough vote to go after in disregard of the interests of all other voters. But that's selfish and misguided politics.

Democrats cast 51 of the 58 votes in the Senate against the administration's housing program and in favor of more money than the budget provided. Only seven Democrats voted with 25 Republicans to support the President's budget.

This shows plainly that, in both houses of Congress, the Democratic party has become the party of the "spenders" and looks with scorn on the "savers."

There are several bills coming up for consideration in Congress involving the expenditure of more billions than the budget provides. If the Democrats think the country is back of them, they'll make a shambles of the President's budget.

THERE IS a feeling in Capitol Hill that the country doesn't care and that the sky is the limit on public spending if a "welfare" label can be pinned on it. Indeed, there are many so-called economists who say that the more spent, the more the country will prosper. No private individual has ever been able to get by on a doctrine that favors spending more than one earns or borrowing more than one can pay back.

The only reason the government can borrow large sums while its tax receipts are down is because people have confidence in the ultimate capacity of the Treasury to pay back what it borrows. Once this confidence is shaken and government bonds depreciate in value, the government has to pay higher interest rates. The price of everything else goes up correspondingly.

The biggest worry in America today is how long public confidence will stand up against the spending orgy that has now begun in Congress.

Doubtless the labor unions will begin a new series of demands for higher wages if prices of the articles the workers buy start going up. It's an inflationary cycle often called the "wage-price" spiral. Before it runs its course, nations generally do not realize the perils. Only when the shock comes and it is almost too late to apply the brakes is there a popular revolution.

MANY COUNTRIES in the world have had what is termed a "runaway inflation." Before it reaches that stage, the argument is made that a collapse can't happen. Today there are many economists who are arguing that inflation has been stopped. But what happened last Wednesday is proof that, despite all the debate about how inflation is being held in check, an overwhelming majority of both houses of Congress—particularly the Democratic party—now votes to ignore the President's plea for a balanced budget and to plunge the country into more and more deficit spending.

Nothing would please the Kremlin so much as to see the economy of the United States weakened from within by unsound fiscal policies. For an inflationary trend would make necessary even bigger spending to pay higher prices for the same armament planned many months ago.

Last week was a critical one in American history and the die seems to have been cast by the Democratic party in favor of inflation, which means a further devaluation of the purchasing power of the dollar.

Letter To The Editor

A number of years ago I rode a great naval vessel into New York harbor. There I saw something I shall not soon forget.

I saw the statue of a great lady—the Statue of Liberty. In her hand she held a torch. This torch reflects a principle that is known and respected the world over. The chaplain standing near me quoted a phrase inscribed on the Great Lady. The words I forget. The principle I shall not forget.

"Send unto me your poor and homeless and sick and I will give them refuge."

America took these homeless people of every known nationality and with their help built the greatest country on earth. A great majority of these people were illiterate and without skill or education. These same people built our factories, man our production lines, live as our neighbors and became some of our best citizens. Why were these people able to accomplish the miracle of modern America?

They were able to build America because of competent leadership. They were a people who believed in what they were doing and were willing to work for the betterment of the guy next door as well as themselves.

To the citizens of East Liverpool, the mayor and everyone else interested in the betterment of the community, a little suggestion from a good neighbor across the river.

Quit fighting among yourselves, neighbor against neighbor, labor union against administration, Republicans against Democrats. Unite! Try the principle on which our country was founded.

In your town you have a fine administration, the finest educators in the business, honest and competent labor unions, decent, hard-working citizens who want a better town, religious leaders of all the churches who cannot be excelled anywhere on earth and a great newspaper to inform your people of what you are trying to accomplish.

Mr. Mayor, why not call together representatives from all these people in an open meeting, excluding no group, regardless of size. Tell them "You elected me your mayor. I tried to the best of my ability to improve and govern your town. Some of you disagreed with what I tried to accomplish and the method by which I chose to accomplish some improvements.

"For those whom I have offended, I apologize. None of you will disagree that something must be done to improve East Liverpool. Now, I call you together so that each one of you can tell me what it is you want done in East Liverpool and to make suggestions as to how we shall accomplish these improvements."

From such a meeting or group meetings, you can build a new town. You can make East Liverpool second to none.

For while you are trying to rebuild a tired town, another group of men build a whole country, 170 million strong, on the principle that "we" not "you" or "I" can do anything we set out to do.

To its citizens, East Liverpool is America. Some of its finest people took a long boat ride and a long, long walk through countries they never heard of. Many didn't make the return trip. They won their fight, however.

Are you going to lose the very thing for which they fought? Try the greatest advice ever written. The only advice that will be worth the paper it is written on when the final election is counted: "Seek ye first the Lord and all other things he shall make possible unto you."

Mrs. Edna Oakes gave a 15-minute recital of traditional organ music. Vocal solos by Keith Tigan preceding the ceremony were "Because" and "I Love You Truly" and during the service "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of Chantilly lace over tulle. The bodice featured a Sabrina neckline and long, pointed sleeves and the skirt was encircled with net ruffles worn over a hoop underskirt.

City Service Planned

World Day Of Prayer Proclaimed

Mayor Fred P. Lawrence is shown issuing a proclamation to Miss Ora Roxie McElroy, city chairman of the World Day of Prayer, and Mrs. John Keller, seated, president of the United Church Women of East Liverpool, calling on all to join in the national observance.

Local services will be held Friday at the Calvary Methodist, the Grace United Presbyterian and Glenmoor United Presbyterian Churches.

There will be similar programs in Wellsville and Chester and the Calcutta - Longs Run congregations will hold a joint event.

The observance started in 1887. On the first Friday in Lent, thousands of Christians around the world will be united in a service of prayer and thanksgiving.

The services begin on the Tonga Islands, west of the International Date Line, where Queen Salote leads her subjects in prayer. Throughout the day, observances are held in 144 countries, ending with the setting sun on St. Lawrence Island, Alaska.

In the United States, the day is sponsored by the General Department of United Church Women of the National Council of the Churches of Christ. Thousands of communities have World Day of Prayer committees composed of women from each church and organization co-operating in the observance.

In more than 2,000 of these communities, local councils of church women have assumed the responsibility for the promotion. In others, an interdenominational committee is in charge.

This year, the service was composed by a committee of nine Egyptian women of the Coptic Orthodox, Anglican, and Evangelical churches and the YWCA.

They represent graduates of the French School of the Sacred Heart, St. Mary's English School and the American College for Girls in Cairo.

The theme will be "Lord, I Believe," taken from John 9:38.

The cross to be used this year is Coptic. Many Copts, or Christians in Egypt, have this cross tattooed on their wrists.

The word Copt means Egypt in the ancient Egyptian language. The Coptic Orthodox Church is the ancient Christian Church founded by St. Mark.

An offering taken during the service is used for interdenominational mission work through the Divisions of Home and Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches, after the cost of promotion and extension has been met.

WHO ARE THEY?

Who are these children?

Probably, you'll never know their names. The countries from which they come encircle the globe. They speak many languages. But each night, before they go to bed, they all say their prayers.

Prayer is the greatest common denominator. You can go to church in Japan or Chicago and, regardless of the language being spoken, you will find that you feel equally in communion with God.

On World Day of Prayer, join your friends and neighbors in church. Let your prayers mingle with those of other people in churches everywhere. Remember that throughout the centuries, prayer has proven itself the greatest of forces. Let it do so again!

Wellsville Makes It Two Straight Over Chester, 72-47

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Wellsville High's Tigers, capitalizing on poor shooting by their opponents while flashing one of their best team efforts of the season, thumped over Chester High's Panthers with surprising ease Friday night, 72-47.

Some 600 fans—best turnout of the year for Beacom Memorial

District Basketball TONIGHT

Toronto at East Liverpool
Wellsville at Goshen Union
Fairfield-Waterford at Atwater

Gym—saw the Tigers walk to their third straight and eighth victory while repeating an earlier win over their Hancock County foes.

The rejuvenated Tigers of Jack McDevitt, who seem to have caught fire since polishing off Steubenville Central Catholic three games back, face a stiffer test tonight at Goshen Union. Goshen sports an 11-5 record.

CHESTER, off from the floor and ragged in all other departments, couldn't find the range until late in the game and finished with its lowest shooting percentage of the year. The Panthers' 47 points represented their second lowest point outburst to date.

Meanwhile, the red-hot Tigers came through with another fine team effort, spearheaded by All-Ohio candidate, Senior Dan Baldwin, and sophomore pivot stand-out Bob Kiggins.

Baldwin, a 6-2 forward, and the gangling Kiggins, who performs with the coolness of a veteran, combined their talents to account for more than half of Wellsville's points in only three quarters of action.

Baldwin pumped in 20 points—highest individual mark of the game—which left him only 10 points shy of reaching the magic mark of 1,000 for his high school career. Baldwin will enter tonight's game at Goshen with 970 to his credit and should become a member of the exclusive circle without any effort at all.

KIGGANS delivered 17 points for the Tigers on eight goals and a foul shot. It was he who triggered Wellsville's first quarter blitz that sent the Tigers soaring away to a 14-4 lead from which Max Tuttle's Panthers never recovered.

Kiggins flipped in four drive shots in the first period to help Wellsville pull away in rapid fashion as Chester managed to hit only one of its first 15 shots.

Baldwin took up the slack in the second quarter and hit for 14 points as the Tigers rode the crest of his scoring to pull away to a lead of 33-14 at halftime.

After that, it was merely a matter of the final score. Leading 54-31 after three periods, McDevitt beckoned his starting five to the bench and the Tiger second-stringers took over, outscoring Chester 18-16 in the final period.

An expected down-to-the-wire tussle between the two squads failed to develop as did a scoring duel between Baldwin and Chester's veteran guard Davey Brookes.

CHESTER shot only 24.2 per cent to Wellsville's 42.8 and the winners also dominated the action in all other departments.

Brookes suffered one of his coldest nights from the floor this year and could muster only 11 points on four goals and three of three at the foul stripe. However, the 5-10 guard was handicapped by his height in addition to poor pass-work turned in by his mates.

Besides Brookes, the only other Panther to hit for double figures was junior Bob Shaffer, a 5-10 forward. Shaffer chalked up six goals and a pair of free throws for 14 points. He was the only Chester starter to pop in a field goal in the first quarter. It came when only 30 seconds remained and the score was 14-1.

Potters Bid To Snap Losing Streak Tonight

Toronto, which has lost only two games and both to the same team, will bring a 10-2 record to Memorial Auditorium tonight.

A preliminary between the two reserves squads will begin at 7 p. m. with the varsity contest set for 8:30.

Coach Paul Kalivoda's Red Knights dropped a 59-52 decision to Weirton Friday night at Toronto. It was the second time that Weirton has defeated Toronto this season.

The Potters take a 1-13 record and a 10-game losing streak into tonight's contest.

Ray Franklin, who sparked Wellsville to a previous 70-60 victory over Chester, was third high man for the winners with 10 points. Franklin Jackson, 6-1 center, hit for 7, and Phil Baldwin

Wellsville's fifth starter, failed to score.

FIVE OTHER Tigers broke into the scoring column in the final quarter. Milton Lamp matched Jackson's effort with seven points, while southpaw Billy DeSarro, a 5-7 sophomore, rimmed five points. Mac Comporetto, Rick Gray and Bob Walker each finished with two.

Chester, operating from a zone defense the entire game, suffered its fifth defeat against 10 victories.

Fouling in the game was at a minimum, with only 11 being called against Chester and 9 against the Tigers.

McDevitt said after the rout that "it was our best game of the year, including the one with Steubenville Central." The Tiger coach also praised Dan Baldwin for his teamwork in passing off to his mates. He also was pleased at the low number of times his cagers lost the ball on routine mistakes—10 times.

Baldwin's 20 points raised his season total to 329, but shaved his average per game by four-tenths of a point from 25.7 to 25.3. However, that's still the top mark in the district.

BROOKES now owns an 18.6 average with 280 points in 15 games to date.

Both teams fared well at the foul stripe, with Wellsville missing only 5 of 17 and Chester 5 of 13. Wellsville's 30 of 70 shots and Chester hit 17 of 70.

In the preliminary, Wellsville's reserves whipped the Chester jayvees, 55-42, as Comporetto swished the nets from all angles to break up a tight game for three quarters.

With Wellsville ahead by only one point heading into the final quarter, Comporetto flipped in several from long range and broke through with long-striding layups to pull the Tiger jayvees ahead by a comfortable margin. He topped the scoring for the game with 22 points on 10 goals and two of three free throws. Lamp added 10 and Bob Delposen six.

Pinney's 11 points were high for Coach Dom Amodeo's Panther reserves. Steele and Mayhew were next in line with eight points.

After Lajoie came to Cleveland, they changed the name of the ball club in 1903 from Bronchos to "Naps" in his honor. And Naps it was until 1915 when the nickname of Indians was adopted.

The Leopards lead the way with a 9-1 record while Hopewell slipped to second with an 8-2 mark.

Midland had little trouble at Monaca Friday night as Coach George Hamilton's team raced to an early lead and was in command all the way.

The Leopards broke on top with a 15-5 margin and led 29-21 at halftime. The third period score showed Midland with a 15-point advantage, 44-29.

Gene Lake was the big gun in the Midland lineup. Lake tossed in 22 points as he meshed seven field goals and was deadly from the foul line, connecting on eight straight attempts.

Behind Lake in the scoring was big Movie Smith with 13 and Steve Yetso with 12.

Smith was the leading rebounder by pulling down 15.

The Leopards shot a respectable 39 per cent by connecting on 25 of 64, while Monaca hit on 24 per cent of their shots.

The victory also marked the first time in three years that Midland has defeated Monaca on its home floor.

Monaca failed to have a player in the double figures as Antoline led the way with eight points.

Allen Oberg tossed in 15 points to lead the Midland reserves to a 56-31 victory in the preliminary contest.

Par-Busting Littler Leads Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Par-busting Gene Littler was two strokes in front today as the $20,000 anything-can-happen Phoenix Open Golf Tournament moved into the third round.

Littler, four strokes off the pace Friday, used a seven-under-par 63 to sweep into the lead and tie an Arizona Country Club course record.

The San Diego golfer went on a par-breaking spree down the final nine holes with a six-under 30.

In the three days of the tournament—counting Wednesday's pro-am event—there have been three holes in one, a course record broken, then tied, and a double bogey eight on the final hole.

The third hole in one was carded by veteran Jim Ferrier, North Hollywood, Calif. He holed his six iron tee shot on the 137-yard third hole. Two other aces were carded in the pro-am by crooner Bing Crosby and Air Force Academy Coach Ben Martin.

Jerry Magee, Toronto, Canada, set the course record Thursday, then along came Littler. The bogey eight was posted by Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., who was six under par when it happened.

A pair of 23-year-old novice tournament golfers—Jim McMullin, Fair Oaks, Calif., and Joe Campbell, Knoxville, Tenn.—were tied for second at 132.

McMullin posted a 67 Friday to go with an opening day 65. Campbell had 64-68.

Magee slipped from his record setting round to a one-over 71. With him at 134 was the veteran Furgol, who put a pair of 67s back to back.

Irondale Drops Finale To Springfield, 58-36

Irondale High's Irons wrote a winning chapter in the books for the 1958-59 cage season under first-year Coach Les Douglas although dropping the regular season finale, 58-36, to Class AA Springfield Township Friday night at Springfield.

Douglas' Irons posted a 10-6 ledger for the year to carry into the Jefferson County Class A tournament which opens Tuesday night at Brilliant High School.

Drawings for the tournament will be completed today in Steubenville. Powerful Smithfield will probably be top-seeded in the eight-team field.

The Irons got off to a poor start in last night's game by permitting Springfield's Flying Tigers to race away to an 18-3 first quarter lead. The winners had the score doubled at halftime, 32-16.

High-scoring Don Fraley, Irons' 5-8 jump shot artist, was shackled for 16 points, but boosted his total for the year to over the 300-mark for 16 games. Fraley, a senior, piled up 313 for the Irons this season, an average of 19.5 a game.

The other half of Irondale's scoring punch, Lonnie Fraley, dropped in nine points and center Gale Boggs contributed seven. Strebl of Springfield took game scoring honors with 20 points.

Springfield's reserves also copied the preliminary, 35-31, over Coach Fred Sims' Irondale javees.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) proposes that Congress take a close look at plans for pay-as-you-see televising of major league baseball games in California this summer.

Keating questioned Friday whether the pay TV plan of West Coast games announced this week by Skiatron TV Inc. would be in the fans' interests.

The Keating proposal is the latest in a series of congressional moves that could cloud the future of the baseball project by Skiatron, a subscription TV firm.

Bills to ban subscription television have been introduced in both the Senate and House. And at least one congressional committee is planning an inquiry on the subject.

However, the counsel for the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee, Paul Rand Dixon, questioned Friday whether the federal government has any control over local closed circuit television—such as Skiatron proposes.

Dixon said he understood Skiatron planned to operate wholly within California which would preclude any interstate aspect for the government to consider.

The Skiatron firm said it expects to introduce closed circuit telecasts of Los Angeles and San Francisco National League games around July 1.

One of the bills that propose a ban on subscription TV would prohibit pay television either by cable until Congress set forth some ground rules.

The author of the bill, Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of the House Commerce Committee, didn't discuss Skiatron's plans in particular but said his committee will begin hearings shortly and will "inquire into the whole picture."

Moe Bags 32, Bethany Trips Tar Heels Win Cumberland

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Doug Moe, the handsome sophomore Coach Frank McGuire says has the basketball potential of Tom Gola as a collegian, is beginning to pay hefty dividends for the North Carolina Tar Heels.

The 6-5, 200-pounder from Brooklyn, whose clutch playmaking and rebounding clinched the showdown North Carolina victory over North Carolina State Jan. 14, has developed into a bit of a scorer too.

Moe had 32 points Friday night—12 in a single-handed burst that brought the Tar Heels off an 11-point deficit in the second half—as North Carolina held its Atlantic Coast Conference lead with an 89-80 victory over pesky Duke.

It was North Carolina's ninth straight conference victory, and the 14th in 15 games for the team ranked second nationally in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The Tar Heels' victory and a handful of other key conference pairings triggered another week-end of heavy activity.

Virtually all the big ones are at it this afternoon and tonight, beginning with the nationally televised game (NBC) of the day, Holy Cross at West Virginia. Regional TV offerings included Maryland at Wake Forest, Indiana at Michigan and Arkansas at Texas.

Top-ranked Kentucky plays Mississippi at Jackson, Miss., and other top pairings include Michigan State at Purdue, Kansas State at Colorado, Georgia at Auburn, Temple vs. Cincinnati at Philadelphia's Palestra, Bradley at Drake, South Carolina at North Carolina State, Tennessee at Mississippi State, and Marquette vs. Chicago Loyola at Chicago Stadium.

Battling for the Ivy League and Pacific Coast Conference leads and Centenary of Louisiana's 72-71 upset of Oklahoma City featured Friday play.

Dartmouth, rallying behind Chuck Kaufmann, whipped Cornell 75-73 in overtime to keep pace with Princeton in the Ivy race. Princeton, a 61-48 winner over Brown, and Dartmouth have 6-0 league records.

In the PCC, California took over the lead with a 5-2 record, nipping UCLA 60-58. Washington kept in contention, topping Washington State 82-73 for a 6-3 mark.

Centenary, with only 500 male students and a 10-8 record, handed Oklahoma City its third loss in 19 games on Leon Shaw's three-point play with 28 seconds left.

Newell Fails Again In Bid For First Win

Newell failed to make the victory column for the 15th time this season when the Vikings suffered an 81-49 setback Friday night at Augusta.

Coach John Robinson's team trailed all the way as Augusta took an early 21-13 margin, led 41-35 at halftime and then moved out to a 60-46 advantage after three quarters. Netting only three points in the last eight minutes, Newell was left far behind.

Augusta showed four cagers in the double figures as Swahlen led the way with 27. Longworth followed with 19. Cargill garnered 18 and Parker 11.

Freshman Mick Staley came up with his best night of the season for Newell when the young cager dropped in 22 points.

The Newell reserves dropped a 42-26 verdict in the preliminary.

Carol Heiss Is Favored In Skate Finals

TORONTO (AP) — Carol Heiss, 19-year-old blonde from Ozone Park, N.Y., goes into the free-style phase of the North American Figure Skating Championships tonight as the outstanding choice to retain her women's singles title.

But the competition for the men's singles crown is a different matter. It can go either to Tim Brown, the favorite from Colorado Springs, Colo., Bob Brewer of Alhambra, Calif., or Don Jackson, 18-year-old Canadian champion from Oshawa, Ont.

They finished in that order in Friday's school figures with Brown compiling 533.3 points, Brewer 533.0 and Jackson 529.9. The title was left undecided when World and U.S. Champion David Jenkins of Colorado Springs decided he could not spare the time from his medical studies at Western Reserve.

By contrast the women's competition boiled down to a two-division affair after the school figures with Miss Heiss in one and the remainder of the field struggling for the other places.

Miss Heiss, world and U.S. champion, piled up a 575.7 point total in the school figures. She built up a lead of more than 50 points over nearest rival—16-year-old Lynn Finnegan of Boston. Miss Finnegan had 523 points. Carol's sister, Nancy, was third with 519.9.

Ambrose Pare And His Partner

Ambrose Pare was a French surgeon of the 16th century. As chief surgeon for the French armies, he introduced many new and improved methods in the treatment of battle wounds.

Until Pare's time, a wounded soldier was considered lost to the cause. Little was done for him. He was left to shift for himself, sometimes left to die for want of medical attention.

Pare changed all that. He abandoned the boiling oil method of treating wounds, promoted the use of artificial limbs and generally advanced the theory and practice of rehabilitation of the patient.

No longer were men left to die needlessly on the battlefields or along the roadsides as they inched their way back from the front in a final effort to reach home and the sympathetic help of family and friends.

IN LATER PRACTICE, Pare made valuable contributions to the entire area of relief of suffering from disease and injury and, as a result, he became known and loved throughout France for his humane treatment and understanding of the sick and disabled.

On one occasion, the French government honored Pare for his achievements. In citing him for his medical skill and humanitarianism, an official referred to his many cures on and off the battlefield.

Responding to the generous praise he had received, Pare said, "I dressed the wounds; God healed them."

AMBROISE PARE fought physical suffering with everything he had to offer. He had skill which surpassed the best of his contemporaries. He had knowledge far in advance of his time. He had prestige, fame, success.

Yet he knew, with all this, he was helpless in his efforts without the working partnership of God. It was his profound conviction that he merely dressed the wounds, that it was God who healed them.

Medical science has come a long way since Ambrose Pare. A great deal is known today that he did not know. A great deal is accomplished today that he could not have accomplished.

Fortunately, however, the working partnership on which Pare leaned so heavily is looked upon still as essential where pain and suffering go beyond the comprehension of the medical man.

And the bigger the man, the more he understands and appreciates the importance of that partnership.

John McDevitt, choir director, will sing a soprano solo, "The Living God" (O'Hara).

Sunday School will convene at 9:45.

More Integration Seen In Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A small amount of public school integration came to Virginia as this week began, and more was in prospect as the week ended.

Twenty-one Negro students entered previously white schools in Norfolk and Arlington last Monday. They now have had five days of classroom work, accomplished without incident.

Unless Alexandria's school board can persuade the chief judge of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals, Simon Sobeloff, to stay a lower court's integration order, nine Negro students are to be admitted to three white schools in that city on Tuesday.

Alexandria's school board asked Friday for more time to prepare for the admission of Negroes to white schools. But U.S. District Judge Albert V. Bryan, declined to modify his integration order.

School board attorneys said they were hopeful they could petition Sobeloff for a delay by Monday.

IN THE
EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW

The libraries were financed by a tax on local real estate with school districts being permitted to levy up to 1 1/2 mills on the valuation of all real and personal property in the district.

WITH CONSTITUTIONAL limitations on real estate taxes and establishment of separate tax rates on various classifications of personal property, the library levy became inoperative with priority for virtually all of the 10 mills going to municipalities, schools and counties.

A suggestion by the late Robert A. Taft, then one of the leaders in the State Legislature, that libraries receive their support from a countywide tax on intangible personal property was approved.

WEALTHY SUBURBS have been opposing the libraries' priority because the taxes not allocated to libraries are distributed among municipalities of counties in proportion to the amounts collected in those municipalities.

Libraries, however, do not even share in all of the intangible property tax since some of the tax is paid directly to the state. The only amount that is allotted by the budget commission is that collected in the county, Miss Jones explained.

Trustees have tried to make the library similar to a supermarket so there would be no barriers between patrons and books. The other improvements include lengthening the time for which books may be borrowed, longer library hours and a new card system to speed up loans.

The library is financed by an allotment from the County Budget Commission from the intangibles tax collected in the county. The commission has been "generous," Miss Jones said, explaining it allots about 60 per cent of the amount collected in the county to seven independent libraries.

Libraries didn't have much chance to develop until the 1930's, Miss Jones explained, with most prior to that time being organized to serve local communities, usually a single school district.

Fund Adopted For Township

The annual appropriation totaling $49,790.17 was adopted by the Liverpool Township trustees Friday night at City Hall. They also granted a wage increase to road workers and authorized purchase of a new slag spreader.

The appropriation provides $14,531.08 for the general fund, $7,009.19 for fire protection and $28,249.90 for all road purposes, according to Simon Hall, clerk.

A 20-cent hourly increase was granted the 2 road workers. They will get $2.05 and $1.95.

The trustees voted to purchase a new Swinson slag spreader from the Cory Engineer & Supply Co. of Galion for $395. They received $195 trade-in for the old spreader. The machinery is operated from the rear of a dump truck.

The trustees adopted a resolution to erect stop signs and speed limit signs on various roads. The list is not complete. The roads under consideration will be sent to the county commissioners for approval.

Police studied the diplomas, from Milwaukee and Chicago and in the name of Quintin F. Soik, for a clue to the identity of the dapper man.

More Voting For Negroes Asked In Suit

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The federal judge who enabled U.S. agents to look at voter records in three Alabama counties has been asked now to open the way for more Negroes to vote in one of the counties.

A suit was filed by the Justice Department in federal court Friday charging persistent denial of the use of the ballot to Negroes in racially troubled Macon County year after year.

It asked U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. to put an end to what it called the pattern of discrimination and thus enable qualified Negroes to register.

The suit charged that Negroes in Macon County, who outnumber white residents there nearly 6-1, have been denied the right to vote for many years solely because of their race.

It was filed against the board of registrars and against E. P. Livingston and State Rep. Grady Rogers as members of the board even though they resigned last December during an investigation of Negro voting complaints by the Civil Rights Commission.

The Justice Department contended Alabama law requires registrars to remain in office until their successors have been chosen, and no one has been appointed to serve on the Macon board since the two resigned.
